April 2009 – July 2010: Building hours towards my commercial pilot's license. Did AS350 type rating and logged PIC hours on ferries, working as a loadmaster in the Congo. I was exposed to a wide range of flying experience situations. I finished my Commercial Pilots License in July 2010.

July 2008 – April 2009: Private Pilots License on H269 and on the RH22.
I worked in the Congo as a Loadmaster. In between the contract periods I was completing my hours towards the PPL license. I helped the engineers with basics on MPI's.

General Comments

I wanted to be a helicopter pilot since I can remember. I joined the South African Air Force in 1994 and became a photographer instead, carrying on with my flying dream. After begging the bank for a loan I received the amount on a student loan to start my PPL in July 2008. With lots of passion and determination I got the opportunity to work as a loadmaster on the AS350, and was very privileged to build some turbine hours and get some good flying experience in the Congo. My biggest dream now is to become a full time Commercial Pilot and live my dream to the fullest. I am very passionate in what I am doing, and would love to stay in the aviation for as long as I am healthy.
